SUMMARY

I'm a developer by choice and an educator at heart, currently living in Santiago, Chile.

I've loved learning and working with technology since I was little, but more than anything I enjoy solving problems with creative solutions using technology, as well as working with interesting people and being able to communicate things I've learned.

On my free time, I enjoy teaching and learning about Javascript and all things web, I'm a JavaScript/Node.js evangelist, organizer of Javascript Chile Meetups, NodeSchool and also Noders, a latin american based community for teaching NodeJS and Javascript.
